
Akinsoft developed the first web-based product, WebCreator, back in 1997. This allowed them to bring software development power to an entirely new audience of people who previously couldn't afford the high cost of programming systems. Unlike most other professional web-authoring tools, WebCreator is completely browser-based and does not require downloading or installation; it can be accessed through your browser plug-in that is available with all leading browsers (Internet Explorer, Firefox, Safari). This innovative program gives you unparalleled flexibility and control over your site creation process because everything happens live on the fly without any downloads or installations required! Akinsoft cafeplus 11 crack at this point needs nothing more than your imagination and coding knowledge. The software is free to download and create a website. The first users of the program received a free copy of Cafe Pro 5.0 worth $69.99, which made them a "CafePro Advocate" and enabled them to sell their own creations. The full version of Cafe Pro 5.0 is currently retailing at $49.99, but you can download a completely free trial version from the website if you'd like to find out for yourself what this product has to offer.

Akinsoft have been active in their release of web based products including WebCreator, Crapworks and the Cafe series of tools for creating web pages and logos through a visual programming interface called CafeScript. The CafeScript Visual Programming System (VPS) was developed to make it easier for anyone, not just professional programmers, to create the Internet's first truly visual programming language. Akinsoft created Cafe Script after finding that most people who use web authoring applications are not professional programmers. Akinsoft CafeScript allows you to create Hypertext Markup Language (HTML) pages that are visually dynamic, but also extremely simple and easy-to-use for novice users. Akinsoft CafeScript is free software available for download from CafePress.com. The CafeScript VPS is available for download from Cafe Creator 2.0. Akinsoft WebCreator is a web-based authoring tool which utilizes the CafeScript language of visual programming tools rather than HTML for page creation. CafeScript websites can be created using any browser including Internet Explorer, Firefox, Safari, Opera, Google Chrome. It is not necessary to download or install anything to create a website with WebCreator. Users of WebCreator receive a free copy of the software worth $69 when they start their account and one million downloads in their first 2 years when they begin selling their own creations. The full version currently retails at $49 but the free trial version can be downloaded from cafecreator2.com for full testing. Version 1 of CafeCreator was created in 1997 with Version 2 released in 2005. A beta version of the next release (CafeCreator 3) is now available with key features including, vector based tools, image editing and integrated image processing.

The Cafe program is an operating system based on the Linux kernel that allows people to create Web sites using any browser without downloading or installing anything to their computer.
